

I believe in you.

It's that simple.

15th December 2020

Today I implore you to take the personal touch and back people. They may be students, staff, friends, family ... but while we have SO much self doubt infiltrating our lives, you will change lives if you let someone know that you believe in them. Empower them, support them, reassure them, listen to them but above all, believe in them.

The feedback I receive from the work I am privileged to do in schools, repeatedly recognises the change resulting from motivating, positivity and believing in what people CAN do.

I believe in you.

Give someone that gift today.

Happy Advent from Plan A!
