WHAT HAPPENS IS NOT AS IMPORTANT AS HOW YOU REACT TO WHAT HAPPENS (ELLEN GLASGOW)

A Coaching Revolution (Annie Boate)

This book was generously given to me by the author. I didn't have the privilege of meeting her but I was the Headteacher of the school she attended a few years earlier. Time has always been the barrier to effective coaching, but it still remains 'the right thing to do'. This causes a problem to us leaders and many times I've seen the barrier overcome by calling it coaching but actually you mean mentoring. Well this book is your solution! Such a refreshing read with practical strategies to get the best out of others without spoon feeding them. This book would make a great secret Santa for any middle or senior leaders in your school; the impact will be measurable in no time.

A THOUGHT FOR YOUR CLASSROOM..

Tell every student that they have permission to be proud of their work today. Provide a pen if needed to remove that barrier and students should turn to the next double blank page in their book. Ask them to look at the double blank page for a timed 30 seconds and imagine how great their work is going to look on it within the next hour. Let the students imagine the lay out, the organisation, the amount of well-constructed writing or diagrams, the clarity, the knowledge. Let them dream proud!
